The investment in draperies and window treatments can be substantial. Exposure to the environment and direct sunlight can lead to permanent damage such as discoloration and weakened threads. Cleaning on a regular basis is important to prolonging the life of your draperies and window treatments.

Dry Cleaning

Dry cleaning uses solvents rather than water to carry detergents to the fabric being cleaned. We take pride in our exclusive use of an environmentally friendly hydrocarbon solvent, that dissolves solvent soluble soils such as waxes, oils, and greases in a way that water cannot. Our professional dry cleaning prolongs the life of your garments, and returns that like new feel and appearance to your clothes.

Formal Wear

Often made from delicate fabrics with added details, formal wear requires extra gentle cleaning and finishing. We take special care to protect these special garments, and meticulously inspect them so you will look and feel your very best wearing them.

Leather, Suede & Fur

Leather, suede, and fur react differently than other fabrics to conventional cleaning methods. We specialize in the cleaning, restoration and finishing of these items, employing the Royaltone cleaning process developed by industry expert, Frank Lucenta. Our cleaning rejuvenates and restores the original luster of your leathers, suede and furs.

For your convenience, we also offer temperature and humidity controlled vault storage for your furs. Cleaning, glazing, and cold storage will keep your expensive furs conditioned and protected for many seasons to come.

Moth Proofing

Clean clothes is the first step to preventing moth and other insect damage. Protect your clothing investment from insect damage by cleaning regularly, especially at the end of a season before storing. Our hydrocarbon cleaning process kills any larvae that may be nestled in your clothes' fibers, and removes any soils from spilled food or perspiration that an insect may feed on. Moth bags are also available to slip over your clothes while they are not worn between seasons.
